your Division communicator July 7, 2017

A message from the Division Commander

, as a support organization to the Coast Guard and to Station Yankeetown, I believe we need to continually look into new and innovative ways to effectively communicate with you.

With that in mind, Bob Fabich, Division Staff Officer-Publications, was asked to look at how we currently communicate division and district information and find ways to help us improve on what we already have.

Rather than provide a quarterly newsletter discussing what happened over the last few months, the 7:15 express and our NEW Division website are now designed to help effectively provide you with current events and up to date auxiliary information.

Our intent isn't to infringe on the communication process you currently have in your flotilla, but to build on what you already have.

As we move into this new venture, we would like to hear from you. Tell us what's working and also where you would like to see us improve. Send comments to Ray Oconnell, VCDR, roc44722@hotmail.com

We have one goal - To provide you with the information you need to be successful and for you to enjoy being a part of TEAM COAST GUARD! Andy Render, Division Commander, 07-15
