

Penalty for no Boating Safety Certificate

John Collins. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Sector Boston ADSO-PE

At the present time, none of the New England states have a penalty for not having a boating safety certificate.

However, failing to meet state boating safety certificate requirements could affect insurance policy terms or claims in the event of an accident. Some insurers offer discounts to boaters who complete safety courses.

25 October 2025