It's always an honor to be given the privilege to serve in any capacity in the USCG and the USCG Auxiliary. More than any commendation, award or medal is the trust bestowed by the members of Central Chesapeake to grant you the opportunity to serve in 2024 and again in 2025 as your DCDR.

We were given an exceptional board of officers to lean on during the year and without their diligence, expertise and advice there would be no leaders. It's true when they say no man is an island and we don't stand alone, and I am grateful for each and every one of them.

We join in the spirit as volunteers, explorer, seek new options/roles, adventurers, journeys to harness new ambitions. For some it may be a renewed call to service, others a minute of mission to give in admiration of blessings received over a lifetime. Or for some an unknown chapter later in life that's propelling you to continue, getup and keep moving. The why, when, and how's are not so important, what is significant is the fact each one of you stepped forward to pledge to make a difference.

How that acknowledgment begins is just a call to action. The minute you set the wheels in motion by applying to any organization and creating time, becoming innovative and committing to a purpose is how it starts. You loan your talents, character, skills, gifts to build, create a better Auxiliary. There is no single gesture or word but multiple actions that delivers everyone to single point or moment. As I stood before many of you during the calendar year to either, welcome, greet or thank you I have been in awe of the many individuals, stories, backgrounds I have encountered from around the globe who happen to make it under one roof, room or audience. And that is what's unique and special about the Auxiliary. You never know its impact or where it may lead!

As you set out anew, whatever mission you support remember the goal is to always inspire to the tradition of the service. We don't know or predict what each day will bring. That is why we train in a culture of safety and education: whether emergency management and response or merchant marine and boating safety all our numerous missions are essential to the general public. As you look forward to 2025 keep watch, stay alert, be a good mate, and return to safe harbor and continue to be a mentor. Always remember we count on you and we need you.

Oyster Festival held

The Solomons Flotilla 23-02 had a busy time talking with the public at the 58th Annual Oyster Festival held on 19 & 20 October at the St Mary's County

Fairgrounds. This annual event hosts the US National Oyster Shucking Contest and the winner moves up to the international championship in Scotland.

Ten different bands provided music for the crowds throughout the event while they shopped the many vendors and sampled the food offerings. Raw, smoked, grilled, fried – oysters were a main food attraction.

The weather was perfect, in the 70's with a light wind and plenty of sunshine. Our flotilla members spoke with the public about boating safety and answered their questions about boating, the Coast Guard and the Auxiliary. Lots of safe boating brochures were handed out to the public and the kids loved the coloring books!

We also initiated correspondence with a few people interested in joining the Auxiliary and are working to get a Boat Station tour for a high school senior who wants to join the Coast Guard when she graduates.

All in all, it was a highly successful PA event for our flotilla.

Coast Guard Station Annapolis Open House 2024

On Saturday, 26 October Coast Guard Station Annapolis hosted its Annual Open House Event with the support of its two resident Flotillas, 054-23-01 and 054-23-03.

The theme for the Day was Trick or Trunk and the weather was a little breezy but otherwise a perfect Autumn Day.

It was pleasantly surprising to learn that quite a few of the visitors were fellow Coasties who brought their families to enjoy the day. And of course, the Trick or Trunk candy was available for the children as well as the occasional adult.

It turned out that a close runner up, if not a tie for the most enjoyed response vehicle with the Fire and Rescue Truck was Jim Welday's of 23-01

"Rubber Duckie" Operational Facility.

In addition to the Annapolis Fire and Rescue Truck, other popular attractions were the Coast Guard's Small and Medium Response Boats; a.k.a the 29 and the 45 respectively, the small Buoy Tender and crew from Coast Guard Sector Maryland National Capital Region Aids to Navigation Team, aka the ANT.

In addition to the Auxiliary displays and handout materials, the active duty and reserves were on hand with recruitment displays and personnel as guests entered the grounds.

In addition to the candy, the Auxiliary table exhibited the likes of marine safety and environmental protection themed coloring books. Inky the Whale, Boating and Water safety, and Sammy the Sea Otter were a hit with the children. Recreational boating safety information and support items for the adults were also handed out. There was also time for fellowship and "Talk Shop" particularly with members from Division 24, many of whom supported the event in 2023; and with the Active Duty/Reserves.

There was a visit from Annapolis City Mayor, Gavin Buckley. The Coast Guard Honor Guard was in attendance. Sources have indicated that Mayor Buckley was pleased with his experience at the event, which of course included a visit aboard the 45 Medium Response Boat.

Division to celebrate 50 years

Division 23 (formerly Division 15) will celebrate their 50th anniversary on 17 January. The unit was initially stood up on 17 January 1975. I hope to have some of the history in the next issue of the Chatter in 2025.

Auxiliarist of the Year 2024

The Auxiliarist of the Year award recognizes the most exemplary performance by an eligible Auxiliarist during the calendar year. Only those Auxiliarists who consistently demonstrated sustained and exceptional standards of proficiency, conduct, uniform appearance, initiative, and performance of duty that achieved results which reflected the highest quality of teamwork and customer service are considered for nomination. This award parallels the awards for the Coast Guard Enlisted Person of the Year and the Civilian Employee of the Year.

23-6 Holds Christmas party and election

23-6 Christmas party was held at Adams Tap House for Ribs on 7 December 2024. This year's election was held during the Christmas party.

Mark Campbell ran the election. Larry Mattivi had to miss the party due to his mom being in the hospital and phoned in. The screening committee put forth Larry Mattivi for Flotilla Commander. Election was by voice vote since there were no other candidates. Joseph Enchill was elected by voice vote as Vice Flotilla Commander.

Following the election while waiting on our meal, Connie Cosgrove presented Tom Hardisty, Jon and Tracey Stivers with a framed retirement certificate and a thermo cup that was engraved with their beginning date with the Auxiliary, their retirement date and the offices they had held. Larry Mattivi was still on the phone and wished them well.

Connie Cosgrove announced that Joseph Enchill was chosen as 23-6 Auxiliarist of the year for 2024. Larry Mattivi read to the Flotilla what he had prepared to say when presenting the award to Joe. Joe received a wooden engrave pen set.

Following our meal, the program continued. Mark Campbell presented Connie Cosgrove with the award for 5DSR Publication of the year. He also presented Floraisa Mattivi with a certificate for Larry as Flotilla Commander for 2024.

Jake Kepich and his service dog joined us for lunch and to except the toys members had given to the Toys for Tots program in Calvert County. Jake thanked everyone for their generosity. He told us that our generosity was much appreciated and went to help many children.

Flotilla 23-6 Holds Annual Food Drive

On the 9th of November, Bill Smith, Harry Scott and Connie Cosgrove made the annual drop off of non-perishable food items and cash donations to the Chesapeake Cares Food Pantry. Boy Scout Troop 789 was on hand to help with deliveries.

Since our delivery in 2023, the Pantry moved to their new home in April. They moved into a warehouse where they share space with End Hunger.

Debbie Weber, Director of the pantry gave us updated information on the food pantry. Debbie said, “in the last three months we have seen an increase in the families we are serving. In October we had 79 new families join through the Giving Thanks Program. We have 600 packages of food scheduled to go out at Thanksgiving and we have reserved 650. “Debbie also said they do 60 home deliveries in Calvert County. Two items that they are able to provide to clients because of hunters and fisherman is venison and catfish. They also participate in the Retail Recovery Program which is a program where they can obtain items from stores such as Sam’s, Shoppers, and other stores. These items are items such as crackers, pistachios, etc. Debbie told us that they have 350 volunteers and five part time staff.

While we were talking with Debbie, the Boy Scout Troop Leader came over and thanked us for all the Auxiliary does. He is not only the scout leader but a Coast Guard Captain at Coast Guard Headquarters. Captain Boda’s day time job is Deputy Director of Marine Transportation.

Debbie gave us a tour of their new space at the front of the building where they will move before our next November visit. All together between our cash donations and non-perishable food our total donation was 740 pounds of food. What a great feeling to give to others in need.

Coast Guard Mutual Assistance Marks A Century of Service

On November 1, 2024, Coast Guard Mutual Assistance (CGMA) will mark 100 years of service and support for members of the U.S. Coast Guard and their families.

CGMA traces its roots to the efforts of Mrs. Clara Billard, wife of the 6th Coast Guard Commandant, who recognized the need for a formal support system to assist Coast Guard personnel facing financial hardships. She founded the League of Coast Guard Women, the precursor to CGMA, with a mission to "minister to the general welfare" to provide emergency financial assistance to Coast Guard members and their families.

3. From the very beginning, interest-free loans and grants made to members in financial need became the core of assistance. Coast Guard families expecting babies counted on the delivery of layettes with baby supplies, another popular program since the earliest days. Other initial support included visits to members in the hospital and Christmas gifts for children.

4. As the United States entered World War II, Coast Guard Welfare was formally established as a staff element of the Coast Guard and inherited the League's mission. Loans and grants raised from donations by Coast Guard personnel helped their shipmates endure financial difficulties often related to illness, the death of a family member, or debt issues.

5. A final name change occurred when the organization became Coast Guard Mutual Assistance in 1979. At that time, the Board voted to include Coast Guard Reservists, Civilians and Auxiliary members for CGMA eligibility.

6. In 1985, CGMA became one of the four Congressionally recognized military aid societies. Each Service has just one.

7. In 1996, CGMA was established as a non-profit and shared office space with Personnel Service Center until 2013. Although physically separated from Coast Guard headquarters today, CGMA's Board Chair has always been the Commandant, the Board President has always been the Assistant Commandant of Personnel/Human Resources, and all Board members represent the Coast Guard community. This governance allows CGMA to maintain a healthy lifeline with and quickly respond to changing needs of the Coast Guard community.

8. Since its inception in 1924, CGMA has provided over $240 million in assistance through a suite of programs designed to support Service member's financial resilience. CGMA proudly offers financial assistance to Active Duty, Civilian employees, Reserve and Auxiliary members, Retired service members, PHS Officers and Chaplains, and surviving family members. Our vision as we enter the next century of service is a Coast Guard community empowered by a trusted network and shared resources to eliminate financial worry.

9. On this centennial, we celebrate CGMA's enduring commitment to serving the Coast Guard as well as our Coast Guard community who makes this mission possible.

10. CAPT Ryan P. Matson, Acting Assistant Commandant for Military Personnel (CG-1M), sends. 11.

Flotilla 23-6 participates in Patuxent River Appreciations Day

The Calvert Maine Museum once again hosted the annual Patuxent River Appreciation Day on 12 October 2024. This event is held every year to draw attention to and to celebrate the bounty we receive from the Patuxent River.

Flotilla 23-6 sets up a safety booth every year at this event. On the evening of 11 October, Bill Smith, FSO-PA and Tracey Stivers went to the museum for setting up the display. Bill had a schedule set up for watching standing the following day. The event opened at 1000 and went until 1700. One of the volunteers to take a shift was Robin Moon, a retired admiral from the Navy. She not only is an Auxiliarist with 25-7 but she also gives tours of the Skipjack Dee at the museum. Other watch standers were Roy Culley, Vice Division Commander; Connie Cosgrove, 23-6. Vice Flotilla Commander; and 23-6 newest member Nicole Claggett as a trainee.

Many questions were answered. Kids loved the coloring books and crayons. So, all in all it was a very good day.

Posting Of Auxiliary National C-School Calendar

The Auxiliary National C-school calendar for Fiscal Year 2025 has been posted at <https://wow.uscgaux.info/content.php?unit=aux00>. This first version only includes sessions that have already been scheduled up through April 2025. The calendar will be updated as additional sessions are scheduled. The training dates for currently scheduled sessions may shift, therefore Auxiliarists are strongly encouraged to periodically check the calendar for changes that occur throughout the year.

Members interested in attending a C-school can now submit a Short-Term Training Request (STTR, form ANSC-7059; available at <https://forms.cgaux.org/forms1.php>) in accordance with the form's instructions and associated Auxiliary district policy.

Please note that funded training quotas are much more limited than in previous years. Many courses will therefore have fewer sessions and will be able to accommodate fewer students. A few courses will only have virtual options available this year. Only in-person sessions, and not virtual sessions, are listed on this calendar. Members who are interested in attending an in-person C-school should review that course's description and prerequisites and submit a STTR as early as possible. Members may attend an Auxiliary C-school on unfunded orders issued by their District Director of Auxiliary (DIRAUX), but they must first check with the listed course Point of Contact (POC) to make sure there is space to accommodate such a request, and they are responsible for arranging the provision of orders with their DIRAUX office. For certain C-school courses there may be opportunities to hold additional sessions at DTRAINS for attendance by local students, though these opportunities will be limited. Requests to do
